World looking at India for spiritual guidance

Guv inaugurates Dr. Sri Shivarathri Rajendra Swamiji's 107th Jayanthi at Suttur Mutt

Mysuru, Aug. 18 (RKB&BCT)- The world is looking at India for spiritual guidance and India is the direction that the world will move in the next decade, said Karnataka Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot in Suttur Mutt at the foot of Chamundi Hill this morning.

He was speaking after inaugurating the 107th birth anniversary celebrations of late Suttur Seer Dr. Sri Shivarathri Rajendra Swamiji in the presence of Suttur Seer Sri Shivarathri Deshikendra Swamiji and Tumakuru Siddaganga Mutt Seer Sri Siddalinga Swamiji.

The main celebrations of the 107th birth anniversary will be held at the sprawling 52-acre JSS Spiritual Mission located at Gaithersburg in Maryland, USA, on Aug. 28 and today, the celebrations at Suttur Mutt were held as a prequel to the main celebrations. At Gaithersburg, a Bhoomi Puja will be performed for the construction of a temple and a complex, in the space adjacent to JSS Spiritual Mission.

The Governor said that India is a nation that has always been a beacon for anybody who looked for spiritual consciousness, inner well-being and for an understanding of the deeper dimensions of our existence. "Mutts like Suttur Mutt and Siddaganga Mutt have kept India's spiritual knowledge alive and are the guiding spirits," he said.

"We have our spiritual roots penetrating thousands of years and we have grown up reciting mantras and hearing scriptures. Our culture is 'Aadi' and 'Anantha' and our Sadhus have protected it all through their lives," Gehlot added.

Heaping praises on Suttur Mutt and Siddaganga Mutt for ensuring social justice, the Governor said, "Akshara Dasoha, Anna Dasoha and Arogya Dasoha were being practised for more than 100 years by the Mutts. I always believe that if spiritual beliefs are held high, one can overcome all difficulties in life," he said.

The Governor described Dr. Sri Shivarathri Rajendra Swamiji as a beacon of knowledge and harbinger of social reforms. "The strong and benevolent foundation laid by Sri Rajendra Swamiji is being continued by the 24th Jagadguru Sri Shivarathri Deshikendra Swamiji. Spiritual practice gives us a holistic view of things and takes us away from being self-centred and attempts to make us society-centred," he added.

Sri Shivarathri Deshikendra Swamiji and Sri Siddalinga Swamiji gave their 'Ashirvachana' to the audience and asked them to follow righteousness. "Dr. Sri Shivarathri Rajendra Swamiji was responsible for changing the outlook of Suttur Mutt and today, the Mutt has focussed on food, shelter, education and social welfare. Similar changes were brought to the Siddaganga Mutt by the late Sri Shivakumara Swamiji. Both are social reformers," they said.

District Minister S.T. Somashekar read out the message of CM Basavaraj Bommai. Mayor Sunanda Palanetra and former Kannada Book Authority Chairman Dr. M.N. Nandeesh Hanche were present.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

The five-point-plan, which PM Modi called "panch pran", is not new and its elements have inspired the freedom struggle and have been part of national thinking since Independence. They are the goal of a developed India, removing all traces of colonial mindset, taking pride in the country's traditions, leveraging the country's unity, and respect by citizens for their duties. These principles are welcome as general principles, but when they are translated into political ideas and acted on in political contexts, they assume problematic meanings. The fight against colonial mindset and pride in the country's traditions often manifests as xenophobia and glorification of many retrograde practices of the past. Unity is interpreted as uniformity and the absence of disagreement and criticism. The focus on duties can lead to the assertion that they are more important than fundamental rights.

The Prime Minister also said India should not wait for "certificates" from abroad and should develop its own "markers". That is obviously a call to reject any international criticism of the government's record on governance and human rights issues, a decline of democracy and other matters. The emphasis on rooting out corruption and nepotism is also fine but the government's record in the matter has not been above board. It has targeted Opposition parties and leaders in the name of fighting corruption and shielded those who are on, or jump to, its side. The Prime Minister did well to talk about the need to empower women and to give them their rightful place, but an announcement that the government would get the women's reservation bill passed would have made a lot of difference. — In Deccan Herald

Fined for peeing in ex-girlfriend's handbag

The two were at the girlfriend's house and somehow started fighting about the money the woman was spending and the debts she was racking up.

At one point, the man allegedly went into the bedroom, brought out one of his girlfriend's Louis Vuitton handbags, unbuttoned his pants and started urinating in it right there in front of her. She then filed a complaint against him with the Police.

Couple in 70s have their first baby

Alwar: A septuagenarian couple from Rajasthan State recently welcomed their first baby after 54 years of marriage, which makes them one of the oldest couples in history to ever have a baby.

75-year-old Gopichand and his 70-year-old wife Chandravati, had long been trying to have a baby, but their dream never came true. For years they visited countless hospitals and clinics, undergoing various treatments and procedures, but nothing worked.

About a year and a half ago, the husband approached an in-vitro fertility clinic in Alwar about the possibility of his wife finally becoming pregnant. The woman's advanced age was a concern, but there had been previous success stories, like that of Jivuben Valabhai Rabari, another 70-year-old woman from rural Gujarat, who delivered a healthy baby. Save Dalvoy Lake from deterioration & destruction

Sir,

The news item "19 Lakes in Mysuru get a new lease of life" (Star of Mysore dated Aug. 16) is very timely and refreshing and I thank the Mysuru ZP CEO for this initiative.

I live close to Dalvoy Lake. On Aug. 14, I could see a dead cow on the Lake bund from my balcony (see photo). This is not the first such incident in recent past.

Dalvoy Lake is totally uncared for. In fact recently a significant portion of the trees and bushes were destroyed forcing the small birds, sparrows and peacocks, which were living there happily all these days, to flee.

Further, the area adjoining the Lake in Bandipalya has become a breeding ground and dump yard for wastes and waste materials from other pockets of nearby areas.

This Lake has a great potential for beautification like Kukkarahalli Lake. Boating can also be introduced and a good walking track can be developed in the park with lighting facility.

Dalvoy Lake has the potential to become a mini tourist spot if developed well.

I request the authorities, especially the Zilla Panchayat CEO to focus on this Lake also for improvement and cleanliness among other Lakes.

Please save this Lake from further deterioration, destruction and pollution.

State Cabinet approves Water Policy-2022

Bengaluru, Aug. 18- In a measure aimed at making effective use and management of available water resources for a variety of purposes, the State Cabinet recently approved the Karnataka Water Policy-2022.

Highlighting the salient features of the Water Policy-2022 after the Cabinet meeting, Law and Parliamentary Affairs Minister J.C. Madhuswamy said that according to the Policy, water management is not a techno-managerial process and it has multiple uses and many stakeholders.

Pointing out that the State adopted a water policy in 2002, he said that, but due to changed scenarios of water availability and demand, it felt the need for a new policy for better management of all water resources.

Maintaining that the new policy will shift the focus from increasing water supply infrastructure to managing water within the available budget, Madhuswamy said that the policy was revised to address the new challenges and make it a more comprehensively integrated resource-management oriented to address the growing inter-sectoral demands.

The policy envisages constitution of an inter-Departmental State Water Resources Authority under the Chairmanship of the Minister for Water Resources and forming of a high-level water policy review and monitoring committee under the Chairmanship of the Chief Secretary.

Teacher recruitment

Continuing, the Minister said that the Cabinet also decided to relax the upper age limit by two years for all categories in the recruitment of teachers for Government Primary and High Schools. The decision to relax the age limit was taken as the Government was not able to recruit teachers owing to COVID and lockdowns for the past two years, because of which many candidates crossed the age limit. The Department of School Education and Literacy would shortly fill about 15,000 vacancies in the State, he added.

BJP elevates Yediyurappa with eyes set firmly on 2023 polls

New Delhi, Aug. 18 (Agencies)- Former Chief Minister B.S. Yediyurappa expressed immense happiness over his induction as a member of the BJP Parliamentary Board and Central Election Committee and said that his aim would be to ensure the saffron party's win in the 2023 Karnataka Assembly election.

"I will faithfully discharge responsibilities given to me by the party. My aim is to bring the party back to power again in Karnataka in 2023," Yediyurappa said, adding that he will continue to work for BJP till his last breath.

Yediyurappa thanked Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Union Home Minister Amit Shah and BJP President J.P. Nadda for giving him the opportunity to serve on the BJP Parliamentary Board and Central Election Committee.

The party's decision clearly shows that its central leadership has set its eyes firmly on the next Assembly elections in Karnataka which are just about eight months away. It is an effort to revive the party organisation and its poll prospects in Karnataka by actively involving him in poll preparations and sending a message that the Lingayat strongman has not been ignored by the party.

"It is an honour to serve on the highest decision-making body of the party," Yediyurappa tweeted. Yediyurappa is considered to be a Lingayat strongman and holds significant clout over the community and with Karnataka elections due next year, the BJP veteran would come in handy for the saffron party in chalking out the poll strategy.

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai greeting former Chief Minister B.S. Yediyurappa with a bouquet as former Minister C.H. Vijayashankar, Rajya Sabha MP Lehar Singh, Minister Govind Karjol, MP and former Union Minister D.V. Sadananda Gowda and MLA M.P. Renukacharya look on.

Bommai welcomes move

Incumbent Karnataka CM Basavaraj Bommai welcomed the move to induct Yediyurappa into BJP's Parliamentary Board, party's apex organisational body.

"Yediyurappa who has built BJP in Karnataka has been named as a member of the BJP Parliamentary Board and Central Election Committee. It has given a big boost to BJP in Karnataka. We are confident that we will come back to power in 2023," Bommai said.

Yediyurappa, the Lingayat strongman, enjoys support amongst the various Lingayat Mutts in Karnataka. Notably, prior to his resignation as Karnataka CM in 2021, over 100 Seers of various Lingayat Mutts had warned the BJP of the consequences if he was replaced.

In Karnataka, Lingayats are the single largest community and comprise nearly 17 percent of the population. They mostly reside in the north Karnataka region.

A strategic move

The move by the party leadership gains even more significance, as it comes following Yediyurappa recently signalling the end of his innings in electoral politics by stating that he will vacate his Shikaripura Assembly seat for son B.Y. Vijayendra if the party fields him in the 2023 Assembly polls.

Following the announcement about retiring from electoral politics, Union Home Minister Amit Shah met Yediyurappa earlier this month during his visit to the State and is said to have held discussions in this regard.

By projecting that Yediyurappa is being sidelined by BJP, the Congress had planned to attract the votes of Lingayats.

Sources said the leadership wanted to ensure that Yediyurappa doesn't feel sidelined, as it fears adverse implications for the party in the polls, in the event of the veteran leader choosing to remain inactive.

We should ponder over why we lost our freedom: C.T. Ravi

Mysuru, Aug. 18 (SBD&DM)- Maintaining that we should ponder over why we lost our freedom despite India being a country with lot of courage, BJP National General Secretary C.T. Ravi said that finding an answer to this will help in saving our valued independence which we earned with a lot of struggle.

He was speaking at the 75th Independence Day celebration organised by JSS Mahavidyapeetha at JSS College on Ooty Road here on Monday.

Contending that no one will attack a desert as there is no wealth there, Ravi, who is also a former Minister, said that looters will attack only those places where there is wealth and prosperity.

"As our country was prosperous, the invaders chose to attack our country one after the other. Though in the beginning, we warded off the invaders, we lost steam later because of lack of co-ordination and in-cohesiveness, which resulted in us losing our independence. Although there was no dearth of courage, capability and sacrifice, we became victims of treachery,' he said adding that it is very important to save our hard gained freedom.

Noting that 'Gurukulas' came into being in our country for imparting education at a time when the world had failed to clearly understand who is 'Guru,' Ravi called upon the people to shed mistrust and inferiority complex.

Suttur Seer Sri Shivarathri Deshikendra Swamiji, who graced the occasion, said that those who had come to the country for trading, indeed became our rulers after some time. Charging the British of using the differences among the Indian population to divide the society, the Seer said that our country, however, gained independence through the sacrifices made by lakhs of people. We should remember our iconic leaders who sacrificed everything for the sake of the country, the Swamiji added.

MLA C.S. Niranjan Kumar, BJP State Vice-President M. Rajendra, former MUDA Chairman H.V. Rajeev, JSS Mahavidyapeetha Secretary S.P. Manjunath, Executive Secretary Dr. C.G. Betsurmath and others were present.

Captain Abhimanyu begins weight training on Jumboo Savari route

Carries a combined weight of 500-kg today

Mysuru, Aug. 18 (MTY&KS)- Abhimanyu, who will carry the Golden Howdah (Ambari) on Jumboo Savari day, began his weight training by carrying 300-kg sand bags on the Jumboo Savari route this morning.

In total, he carried a combined weight of 500-kg, which included 300-kg sand bags and 200-kg Gaadhi Namdha, ropes and the cradle like structure in which the sand bags were placed.

Before the commencement of weight training, puja was performed at Kodi Someshwara Temple in Palace premises to Abhimanyu, Kumki elephants Chaitra and Kaveri, Gaadhi Namdha (a cushion-bed-like material) and the cradle at 7.45 am and the Gaadhi Namdha was fastened on the back of Abhimanyu with a leather strip and ropes and then a cradle-like structure was tied on top of it.

Pada Puja was performed by sprinkling of 'Arishina-Kumkuma' at the feet of the elephants and they were fed with 'Pancha Phala' (five fruits).

Later, sand bags weighing 300-kg were placed inside the cradle and Abhimanyu, followed by other elephants — Bheema, Gopalaswamy, Mahendra, Arjuna, Dhananjaya, Kaveri, Chaitra and Lakshmi — were taken in a procession as part of the drill.

The Dasara elephants were led to the Torchlight Parade Grounds in Bannimantap via K.R. Circle, Sayyaji Rao Road, Government Ayurveda Hospital Circle, Bamboo Bazar, Old RMC Circle, Moulana Abul Kalam Azad Circle (Highway Circle) and Nelson Mandela Road to reach the Torchlight Parade Grounds.

A jeep, dragging a magnetic rod on the Jumboo Savari route went before the elephants to remove any sharp metal objects such as nails, screws etc. which could hurt the Darasa elephants and cause wounds.

Deputy Conservator of Forests (DCF) Dr. V. Karikalan, speaking on the occasion, said that weight training for Abhimanyu began from today and other eight Dasara elephants also took part in the training session. Abhimanyu carried 300-kg sand bags on the first day and the weight will be gradually increased, he added.

Continuing, Dr. Karikalan said that all male elephants except Arjuna will undergo weight training on rotation basis till Aug. 30. From the first week of September, wooden howdah, weighing 350-kg will be placed on Abhimanyu and sand bags will be placed inside it which will be gradually increased till the weight equals 750-kg, the weight of the Golden Howdah and training will be held on the Jumboo Savari route, the DCF added.

Pointing out that the first batch of nine Dasara elephants were healthy and are put on nutritional diet, Dr. Karikalan said that the elephants are responding well to the training and are getting used to the sound of crowd on the Jumboo Savari route. The second batch of five Dasara elephants will arrive in Mysuru in the second week of September, the DCF said.

Mahouts and Kavadis of all nine Dasara elephants, DCF Dr. Karikalan, Range Forest Officer (RFO) Santosh Kumar, Veterinarian Dr. Mujeeb, elephants' caretakers Rangaraju, Akram and others accompanied the elephants during the training today.

It may be recalled that due to COVID-19 pandemic, familiarising the Dasara elephants on Jumboo Savari route was stopped since last two years and the training was held inside the Palace premises only with limited elephants.

Speaking to reporters in Bengaluru yesterday, the Minister said that inland fisheries will be developed through fish-rearing units at all the 12 reservoirs in Karnataka including the Krishna Raja Sagar (KRS) Dam near Srirangapatna in Mandya district.

Freshwater fishlings will be released in large quantities at designated areas and will be harvested to supply to eateries. The Irrigation Department has provided 25 acres of land at Alamatti Reservoir for the purpose and subsequently, the Government land will be acquired in all the 11 Dams, he revealed.

He said that steps have been taken to establish fish fry production centres. Now, fish had to be imported from other States including Tamil Nadu and Gujarat. To avoid this, it has been decided to give priority to the local breeds which are in demand in the districts.

"We will open fish meal centres across the State by the Karnataka Fisheries Development Corporation along with private partnership. Also, we will open seafood meals hotels. The Fisheries Development Corporation has been running a few hotels for many years now. But due to financial constraints, the Department has not been able to expand, despite great demand," he said.

Some time ago, the Department conducted a survey and found there is high demand in several districts for seafood, especially where quality fish is unavailable. Angara said that the Bengaluru Development Authority (BDA) has offered to provide space for these restaurants in Bengaluru, and five restaurants will soon open in the city with the help of several private players.

Although there is fish production in coastal areas, there seems to be no proper market. Steps have been taken to overcome this deficiency. The Minister said that a plan has been drawn up to supply fish as a pilot project on the route of Bantwal, Sullia, Puttur, Somwarpet and Madikeri.

Gidamoolikotsava: Varieties of Tulasi saplings distributed

Mysuru, Aug. 18 (MTY&SSM)- Former Forest Minister C.H. Vijayashankar inaugurated 'Gidamoolikotsava' (Moolikathon) programme organised jointly by Government Ayurveda Research Centre and Government Ayurveda Medical College, Mysuru, as part of Azadi Ka Amrit Mahotsav at Nada Mantapa in Sri Ganapathy Sachchidanananda Ashrama premises on Ooty Road here this morning.

About 500 Tulasi saplings including Rama and Krishna Tulasi out of about a dozen varieties of Tulasi species were distributed to the people.

Speaking on the occasion, he said, "Awareness about conservation of forests and nature was started decades ago even before the Appiko Movement (Chipko Andolan). Lord Krishna preached the importance of conservation of plant species and respect every element of nature."

"There were 603 Moolavruksha in our State out of which about 350 of them have already vanished and the remaining 253 are in danger. It is our responsibility to at least conserve these trees," he said.

Pointing out that the Mysore Royal Family has given special importance to conservation of plant species, Vijayashankar said that when Rajas ruled Mysore they gave importance to growing plants, especially plants which had medicinal values. Arjuna tree, which has good medicinal values and used to treat heart-related problems, is on the verge of extinction, he noted.

Ashram's Junior Pontiff Sri Datta Vijayananda Theertha Swamiji said, "We go in search of God everywhere but fail to notice the God in nature and trees. In olden days, Rishis and Munis used to perform homa and havana for 'Vanaspathi' God seeking rainfall. It is our responsibility to conserve the environment and save trees. The temperature in city is about 40 degree while inside the Ashram it is only 35-36 degree as we have a lot of trees and plants inside the Ashram campus."

Defunct streetlights on Ring Road

Project to lay underground rodent bite-proof wires begins

Mysuru, Aug. 18 (RK&BCT)- At last, the works on laying underground insulated wires for the streetlights on the Ring Road have begun.

Insulated wires will be laid as the existing wires have been eaten by rodents in the 42.5-km long six-lane Ring Road. These wires were laid by Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) in 2014. Once the rodent bite-proof wires have been laid, the supply will be restored. LED lights will be fixed for extra brightness.

The LED lighting will be implemented with a Centralised Control and Monitoring System (CCMS) with smart meters and Internet of Things (IoT) controllers. This enables the integration of all LED lamps and they can be operated remotely through wireless communication.

Every year, just days after Dasara, streetlights along the road are switched off, plunging the 42-km-long carriageway into darkness, endangering the safety of people using the motorway and residents of layouts beyond the road. The increased crime rate, accidents, repeated complaints by residents and commuters and fervent appeals by the Police have forced the MUDA and the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) to come up with a plan of action to keep the streetlights on the Ring Road glowing every night, 365 days.

The project to lay underground insulated wires was inaugurated by District Minister S.T. Somashekar at the Datagalli point of the Ring Road on Monday. There are over 2,135 electric poles along the road and 4,818 LED bulbs have to be fixed. As part of the project, the many fallen streetlights too will be restored.

As per the plans, the MCC and MUDA have come to an understanding that the MUDA will pay the MCC Rs. 12 crore to replace the bulbs, rodent-eaten wires and other cabling works.

After the lights are restored, the MCC will maintain the light poles and also pay the electricity bills.

Under the project, apart from 4,818 LED bulbs, 70 CCMS points will be set up along the Ring Road and to cover dark spots, 98 octagonal poles will be erected.

MP Pratap Simha, MLAs G.T. Devegowda and L. Nagendra, In-Charge Mayor Sunanda Palanetra, In-Charge Deputy Mayor Anwar Baig, MCC Commissioner G. Lakshmikantha Reddy, MCC Superintending Engineer Mahesh, Executive Engineer K.J. Sindhu, Assistant Executive Engineer A.B. Kavana, former MUDA Chairman H.V. Rajeev, Corporator Lakshmi Kirangowda and others were present.

DECODING MYTHOLOGY

Dr. Devdutt Pattanaik - Author, Speaker, Illustrator, Mythologist

Two Gods in our Brain

We are familiar with that false idea that the left brain grants us logical thinking and mathematics and the right brain grants us creativity and abstract thinking, and that students of science and commerce have left brain orientation while students of the arts have right brain orientation. In this model, the left brain is more masculine, and the right brain is more feminine. No scientist agrees with this simplistic model anymore.

Today, we know that both sides of the brain are needed for logic, mathematics, creativity, and the arts. But what is different is how the two sides of the brain pay attention to the world.

While the left half of our brain focuses on the world, and seeks control over it, grasping it with the right hand, the right half of the brain seeks perspective of the world and seeks understanding of it. The left brain enables the predator to catch the prey. The right brain keeps a lookout for predators so that we do not become prey.

The left brain has a narrow vision of the world that gets narrower as it seeks to control the world. The right brain has a wide vision of the world that gets wider as it seeks to appreciate the world. The left seeks useful functional knowledge. The right seeks meaning of it all. There is tension between the two which shapes our existence.

This idea is captured in mythologies around the world in the form of a pair of Gods who complement each other and compete with each other. For example, in Rig Veda, we learn of Indra and Varuna. Indra is war-like and focused, striking the world with his thunderbolt. Varuna keeps a watch on the world, is more peaceful and collaborative, and casts a net to capture the whole world, only to realise the net needs to become bigger and bigger.

This becomes more elaborate in Vishnu mythology. Vishnu reclines on a serpent and rides an eagle. Both serpent and eagle are enemies. The serpent eats the eggs of the eagle and the eagle eats serpents.

The serpent represents narrow vision or sarpa-drishti of the left brain and the eagle represents the wide vision or garuda-drishti of the right brain. Both are needed to preserve the world, and so natural enemies are made to work together by Vishnu.

In Norse mythology, there is a story of two Aesir Gods: Hoenir and Mimir. They are always together and serve as great leaders together. Suspicious of their friendship, some Gods behead Mimir. Now Hoenir can make no decisions. All he can say is, 'Let others decide.' Hoenir here is like the right brain who sees so much that he cannot decide, while Mimir is focussed like the left brain that uses information and makes decisions. The two work as a team. Without Mimir, Hoenir is paralysed. Without Hoenir, Mimir is overconfident.

We are taught to value one or the other, yet we need both to succeed — Indra and Varuna, the eagle and the serpent, the masculine and the feminine, the left and the right. In yoga, when we focus (dhyan) the left brain is being activated; when we practice mindfulness and awareness (dharana) the right brain is being activated. If only politicians learnt that and did not split society and made it value one side over the other.

WORD OF THE DAY

Riposte

Pronunciation: rih-POHST.
Meaning: A riposte is a clever retort or retaliatory measure. In fencing, it refers specifically to a quick return thrust immediately following a successful defensive action.
Origin: In the sport of fencing, a riposte is a counter-attack made after successfully fending off one's opponent. English speakers borrowed the name for this particular maneuver from French in the early 1700s, but the French had simply modified the Italian word risposta, which literally means "answer." Ultimately these words come from the Latin verb respondēre, meaning "to respond." It seems fitting that riposte has since come full circle to now refer to a quick and witty response performed as a form of retaliation.
Example: "As a riposte to the status quo, the studio has created Pendler, a conceptual urban e-bike pitched at commuters, meticulously designed and carefully shaped to be safer, more practical, and better performing that its rivals." — Jonathan Bell

THE ODD WORD

Ramate
Branched.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Ring fencing

Meaning: You use the expression 'Ring Fencing' to indicate the obligation of a person or organization to use or restrict funds for a particular purpose.
Origin: The term 'ring fencing' has been used since the 1980s to refer to monetary transactions. Before that the term was used to discuss ring-shaped fences used to contain farm animals.
Example: "We're ring fencing the city council to ensure they allocate the funds they promised for the new city park."

QUOTE BOX

Fencing isn't really fighting. It's more like chess with the risk of puncture wounds.— Lisa Kleypas
